

Compendium of Expressions

There are only (5) truths.

- 1.) I can leave a marking, therefore, in life and death, I-exist.
- 2.) There is a marking, and there is me, therefore, in life and death there is a world.
- 3.) There is a world, and I can leave a marking, therefore in life and death, I am unique, as I exist, and, I am one.
- 4.) Other's exist, as there is a world, and I can leave a marking, to which another remains to relate as to whom I was as in becoming. Therefore, I was born, as I am inside the world, & know my Mother pre-existed me, therefore she exists, and is another.
- 5.) Acknowledgement of awareness of another of the self is confirmable, therefore as another exists, the world exists, we are each unique, other's exist, and through life and death, we are situated or roam the world.

Therefore, as suffering exists, and leads from birth to death, it can be unrooted, therefore, happiness is possible.

Life, leads to death, therefore, I know that as other's exist, this present exists, and therefore the future is knowable, from which it is knowable that I am one, not another, and for the condition of my existence, I was born, and followed from another.

They have a future, and a death, but it is true that as my Father is-dead, but I am not dead, the world, for such as it is, is such that I will exist in the future, and my Mother will exist in the future.

He exists, and I too will exist beyond death.

If a world exists, I will exist, and the world will continue to exist, and I will die.

When I leave this world, I will not return to life, but once.